Correction.

In giving the notice of the grand operatic concert of Prof, Norman, at Tucker Hall Friday night, we were in error in stating that the Gambler's Wife was sung by Mrs. Norman. It should have been Mrs. George C. Jordan, who showed very clearly that she undoubtedly possesses one of the finest voices in the State. The "Gambler's Wife" was the gem of the evening and received the unanimous applause of the large and highly cultivated audience. Mrs. Jordan rendered great assistance to the concert, which would have been incomplete without the performance of her part.

PIVE DAYS TO VACATE. How Now !

SCOUNDRELS AND THIEFS WIN THE DAY.

Justice and Law Throttled.

The shelling of the lines began to ward the last of April, the Messrs. Haywood, Badger, Tourgee and Purnell filing an application before Judge Watts praying for a writ of mandamus to make the city authoritles hold an election on the 1 t Monday in May under the old Three. Ward system. In this proceeding it was claimed that the act of 1875, dividing the city into five wards, was unconstitutional in several particulars. The Court heard the case at Chambers, and decided in favor of "the outs." "The ins" took an appeal to the Supreme Court. It was insisted by the Radicals that an appeal did not vacate the judgment, and that the order of the Supreme Court should be carried out before the matter could be heard by the Supreme Court. This was controverted, and the city authorities would not obey the order pending:this appeal. However, Judge Henry being here about that time an application was made to him to commit -he city officials for contempt. When the matter was heard by Judge Henry he decided that the order must be obeyed at once, but that under the circumstances the Mayor was not in contempt. Thereupon the Mayor and Aldermen appointed registrars and poll-holders to hold an election under the thres-ward system of 1857. All the poll-holders appointed by the County Commissioners then resigned. The Registers appointed by the city under the order of the court (except for the middle ward) refused to act. No registrations were made in the Eastern and Western wards. Early on the day of election the Board of County Commissioners met and in pursuance with the act of 1875 appointe d poll-holders in place of those who had resigned for the 5th ward election. And an election was regurlarly held under that system according to the law of 1875, particular care being taken to avoid doing anything objectionab! and unwarranted by the constitution as lately decided by the Superior Court. The present Board was chosen at this election.

An election was also held in the city under the order of the Court by the poll-holders appointed by the City Authorities; but there were no voters registered in the Eastern and the Western wards, and there was no vote cast in them. In the Middle Ward Manly was elected Mayor and

Democrats elected Commissioners. The Radicals finding that there was no registration in the Eastern and Western Wards, and that they would not be pllowed to vote by the regularly-appointed poll-holders, because there was no registration held, a third election in these two wards themselves by poll-holders appointed by nobody. At this third election radicals were chosen. They pretended to organize themselves into a Board of City Commissioners. John C. Gorman is their

The persons elected at the first election are the "inns"-and Manly is their Mayor.

Lately, the same counsel for the radicals filed an application covering about fifty pages of closely printed matter, requiring that Manly and the "inns" should turn over to them the market-house, guard-house, the seals of office, &c.; and that they should be forbidden from performing any duty as officers of the city of Raleigh. The case came up for argument today on a motion made by Judge Fowle, Merrimon, Fuller & Ashe, Busbee and Argo, to dismiss the proceedings because the Court at chambers had no jurisdiction to hear and determine the matter at issue.

Judge Watts ruled that on the defendant's motion to dismiss the plaintiffs counsel should open and re-

Mr. Tourgee opened in a three hour speech. He argued that this was not a prodeeding by any way of quo warranto: they were not seeking to try the title to the office; that both par ties were in office, were officers de facto, and that all they asked for was a mandamus to compel the Manly Board to deliver up the seals and public property to the Gorman Board. Jude Tourgee severely animadverted the action of the Manly Board in not obeying promp'ly the order of the court in the first proceedings last April. Judge Fowle replied in a lengthy and able speech. He started out with an admirable defense of the action of the Manly Board, and then demonstrated that the plaintiffs had no title -were never elected at any proper election, but that under the first and the second elections they were defeated and that the third election was mere farce. He cited the Constijution to show that no one could seted.

ne Bill said that of Rights to taxe away undir property without deciding on their right to it, and that the very moment that the Court undertook to determine and pass upon the'r right to the office, that moment all the counsel admitted that the Court would have no jurisdiction.

Col. Haywood closed the argument. He proceeded at some length to review the matters touching the old proceedings, the late election and the city charter. He beld that the real situation was that the Gorman Board had been in office all along, ever since the day of election, and that the Manly Board had never been in office: that the Gorman Board were both de jurie and de facto while the Manly Board were not even de facto but were mere usurpers, in fact his argument to show that they were not even usurpers as the Gorman Board had always been in office. He said the only point was whether the Court would grant a mandamus to compel outside parties to give up the official property in their possessionthat the leaving about the writ of quo warranto had no application as that writ applied only where a party out of possession sought to try the title and get in, whereas in this case the Gorman Board were already in. He held that the elections by which Mr. Manly was chosen Mayor were absolutely nullities. And the Gorman elections, while irregular, were yet to be sustained on the principle that the people must not be deprived of their right to hold an election. Judge Watts granted the writ of Mandamus, returnable on the 29th of June, and directed that the Manly Board should not exercise any of the duties of municipal officers. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. It was supposed that the case would go over to the Superior Court, where the issues of fact raised by the answer would be tried by a jury, but Judge Watts ruled that the sworn denials of the Manly Board could not have the effect of raising an issue.

Johnnie McDonald.

Mr. Johnnie McDonald returned to the city yesterday from the Cincinnati Convention. He was the only Hayes delegate from this State and was so much elated at the nomination of Hayes that he called on him at his home in Ohio and returned to Raleigh with a Hayes hat, a Hayes suit of clothes and a large Hayes and Wheeler badge on the left lapel of his coat, which is very conspicuous and attracts the attention of every one. Johnnie made a Hayes speech from the porch of the Grand Central Hotel in Cincinnati before a crowd of about four thousand people. This speech, no doubt, gave Hayes the nomination. If Haves is elected, which is undoubtedly an impossibility, we would Lohnnie to be either a memnet or Minister to Gorman and the "outs" had been registered. He then showed that this was a proceeding to try the litle of office, and this could only be done in a quo warranto, and a quo warranto could only be heath by the court at a regular term, and that the judgement of the court tow would be null and void.

Mr. Argo followed in a short but admirable argument on the rights of de facto officers.

THE Hayes and Wheeler ticket is popularly known as the much ticket After November the darkies will call it the "smushed ticket."

THE floods in the Western part of the State wrought great damage. They are unprecedented almost in violence and destructiveness.

THE general stagnation of trade and commerce, tegether with the depressed industries of the country, are making the present bank taxes so onerous, that the National Bank Convention cries out loudly for relief.

CAPT. JOHN E. DUGGER comes to Raleigh heralded as "a faithful and competent lestructor," a valuable citizen," and "a christian gentleman of the highest grade." The citizens of Warrenton deplore his removal from their town, where for eighteen ren's loss is Wake's gain.

THE OUTLOOK AT ST. LOUIS.

The talk at Washington is that Hancock and Hendricks, will be nominated at St. Louis on the first ballot. This ticket is not the first phoice of everybody. It is not the first choice of the Democratic majority in Congress, which is the truest index of Democratic sentiment. But it is generally regarded as the strongest ticket that can be named and the best one to unite the Democratic party.

The drift of Democratic sentiment about this St. Louis business is that we should name the men who are most certain of success. Victory is recognized as essential to the interests of the party and the country. All other considerations are subordinated to this. We must beat Hayes and Wheeler. Who are the men to do it? that's the great, paramount question Wedl

As to who that man is, no one can say. It is all in a fog. The names of Tilden, Hendricks, Thurman, Hancock, Parker, Bayard, are all prominently before the country. The choice is likely to fall on one of these men; but which one, is a mystery that only the future can reveal.

The objection to Hancock is that the country does not want another military President. The sound of clanking spurs in the corridors of the White House is not pleasant to the ears of a free people.

The objection to Hendricks comes from New York. He can't carry that State, they say. Thurman, it is feared, would be unable to carry the West, owing to the feeling against him among the Allenites. At the same time it is apparent that his prospects for the nomination are brightening every day.

Against Bayard it is urged that he is too strongly Southern in his sympathites; he isn't Yankee enough to suit the average Hoosier; the State he comes from is too small. No other objection is made to him.

The objections to Tilden come from the West, mainly. His views on the hard money question, the part he and his friends are said to have played in the Hayer-Allen contest last year, bave rendered him obnoxious to the inflationists. With such hostility to him in our own tanks, his nomination it is thought by many would be imprudent.

Governor Parker, of New Jersey. is looming up as the probable nominee. The chances now are that he did at Cincinnati.

The South will be satisfied with any one of the candidates named. Tilden, Hendricks, Hancock, Thurman, Parker, or Bayard would be entirely acceptable to our people, and would receive our whole vote.

THE WAR ON CORRUPTION.

Vigilance and watchfulness on the part of the people, are necessary for the preservation of our free institutions, and the mainten ance of purity in the administration of State and National affairs. The conduct of public servants should beat all times closely scrutinized. The number of public servants who have been proven to be corrupt, is alarming. It exhibits an unprecedented demoralization in official circles.

The interests of the country demand a remely for this widespread and growing evil. The evil must be cut up by the roots, and the government brought back speedfly to the principles of honesty, simplicity and economy-the principles upon which our fathers based it a hundred years ago.

The experience of the past few years teaches us that it is vain to look for reform from the Radical party. The reformation of a band of pirates, or a gang of thieves, never has been known in the history of the world; nor ever will be, until human nature changes. No more will a corrupt political party reform itself from within. The only way to stop the work of predatory bands. either upon upon sea or land, is to break up their organizations, and pursue them with the law.

The mission of the Democratic party is to reform the Government, and to do it by driving the Republicans from power and smashing their corrupt rings. The Democrats must practically enforce the prevailing idea of reform. This is essential to the welfare of the country and the maintenance of the interests, rights and liberties of the

Our aim should be rigid economy in the State and National administrations: the reduction of taxes; the maintenance of the public credit, and the gradual extinguishment of the public debt, both State and National.

The Democratic House of Representatives has already received the applause of the country for its active and energetic measures for ferreting that Mr. Bump was there. We never out and exposing the rascalities of corrupt officials. A Democratic triumph this fall is necessary to carry on this work of purification. To accomplish this great object all men who cordially wish an economical and honest Government can unite in this struggle, and so restore peace, prosperity and happiness to our common country.

THERE is a dead-look in Congress on the question of repealing the Resumption Act. The contraction under the Sherman sham is so much greater than was contemplated even years he held the political of the warrent on Male Academy.

by the framers of the act that even to the Naval Academy. He is the appointee of the Hon Thos. S. Ashe.

New England interests are protesting appointee of the Hon Thos. S. Ashe.

THE military division of the South will be discontinued. At what time the telegrams do not inform us. This leads to the removal of some of the military from the South we suppose. It is a matter, however of little or no consequence to our people. The administration don't dare attempt at this late day to overawe citizens with bayonets, as was done in the reconstruction period.

THE Senate has passed the House bill, with elight amendment, providing for the issue of $10,000,000 of subsidiary silver coin for legal-tenders, The amendment proposes that the trade deliar shall not bereafter be a legal tender. The bill will become a law without delay, and the pressing demands which reach Washington from all parts of the country will be relieved much more rapidly than under the present system of paying out silver for the fractional currency.

OUR University possesses a feature which merits particular attention and commendation. Young men without sufficient means to pay the expense of a collegiate education may obtain free tuition at Chapel Hill. At the institution the past session four students were given their tuition. free, and one was allowed to give his note for the amount. We understand note for the amount. We nader that it is the order of the Trustees that no young man be turned away because of his inability to pay the tuition feer.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

-The young men of Raleigh are ahend of those of Charlotte in forming a Zeb. Vance club. Ours is the first one formed in the State.

-Virginia's school fund apportionment for this year divides seventy-five cents per head of school population, making one dollar per head for the entire school year. $362, 726, 85, is the total amount apppropiated. -New York Herald: A school of electric whales have just been discovered in the North Pacific, and when an iron ship approaches within ten miles the crew have to stand on glass to escape the terrible shafts of electricity that shoot out in all directions.

-Beecher is not so valuable to Plymouth Church now as heretofore. That church, which last year raised Mr. Beecher's salary to $100,000 to enable him to meet the expenses of his trial, has voted to restore it to $20,000, the amount previously paid.

-The Hartford Times starts the poet in the following mild style .

The nominating days have come, the maddest of the year, When every politician chap struts round like chanticleer : He flaps his little wings and crows, and makes a mighty noise,

And then he strikes the candidates for

-Mr. M. D. Conway in a London letter to the Cincinnati Commercial says Mr. Judah P. Benjamin, Q. C., ex-United States Senator, and ex-Confederate Minister, must be regarded as the most famous advocate at the English bar at the present moment, but that English lawyers do not begin to get such large fees as American lawyers. One thousand dollars is regarded as a fancy fee.

-Daniel Drew was examined in the Bankruptcy court in New York some days ago. When asked what had be come of all his money Mr. Drew replied "There never was sich a case in all Wall street of anybody's losing so much in such a little while—$2,000,000 in fifteen months." To an inquiry as to where it went he replied: "Nor-west and Waybosh." He didn't think the boys had meant to "conspire" against him, but that they were kind of afraid of him and daren't go with him the lengths he was laving out. As long as he could, he said, he "saw 'em through."

-We can understand the reasonableness of the remonstrances of the tobacco men against the recent decision of the government relative to the tobaceo tax when we learn that the extensive tobacco manufacturing establishment of Blackwell & Co. at Durham, has been assessed by the United States Government for the sum of $89,000, being arrearages for taxes upon their business, including scraps, stems, &c., not reported by them, because not considered legitimate subjects of taxation. Other establishments in that place have been assessed in equal proportion for similar cause.

-A Congress of American Lawyers met in Philadelphia some days ago. The object of the meeting was to suggest some means for the unification of State law, which will have the effect of removing restrictions upon the commerce between the different States, which now operate against the best commercial interests. In looking over the names of the lawyers present, we fail to find a single Southern member of the Bar. We find, however, heard of him before, but as he pushed himself forward into the chair, we imagine him to be a bumptious fellow. Mr. Keene and Mr. Sharpe were on hand, and also Mr. Burnup, who has failed as yet to set the world on fire.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Speaker Kerr is rapidly recovering his

The Hayes,--Wheeler ticket excites very little enthusiasm.

The masses of the Democratic party in New York are for Tilden. He is only opposed by those to whom his vigorous policy is hurtful.

Bristow has resigned, not that he has an eye to St. Louis, but that he is tired of the fight with rogues in his own camp, protected and abetted by his associates in Mobile Register: Tilden's claims to the character new popularly accorded to him rest upon an ascertained and substantial basis, In 1871, aided by Charles O'Conor he struck the leaders in his own party and brought them to justice. This year he has saved eight millions of dollars to the people of New York by reducing their taxes from eight to three and one-half mills on the dollar.

N. P. Herald : For two days the Cincinnati Convention talked, but, with one or two exceptions, it was only threshng the old bleeding nigger campaign straw over again The colored brethren on the first day talked the old-fashioned slaveholder's pistol and shotgun, and it note that Fred the long e" idea Atlan cans are be est Par son Brownlow should go to praying for the election of Hayes. It seems that the parson put in quite a number of long supplications of this sort for the nomination of Morton by the Cincinnatti convention, and the way in which they were answered isn't at all gratifying either to the Indiana Senator or his backers. Hayes' friends admit that he will stand a good deal of praying for, but they don't want Brownlow to do it. That's enough on the parson.

Philadelphia Times: There is a conspicuous absence of enthusiasm over the nominations, and a wearisome lack of variety in the comments of the newspapers as will be seen from the column of comments elsewhere printed. The great advantage of this ticket is that nobody can possibly take offense at it, and the Republican papers all take it down eaisly, though with no great appetite. The independent papers, with Republican tendeacies generally swallow it with some indication that its taste is mawkish and flat.

STATE CAMPAIGN.

Durham Reporter: The citizens of Mebaneville will raise a Vance and Jarvis flag in a few days. Hurrah for Mebaneville!

Franklin Courier: With our dear old State in the hands of such men as Vance, Jarvis, Worth, Engelhard, Love, Kenan and Scarborough, we feel sure that our Treasury will not be plundared, and our Constitution will not suffer.

Asheville Citizen: Dr. Love is one of the most popular men in the transmontane district, and in nominating him the party has greatly added to the strength of its ticket.

Polkton Ansonian: The speeches of the candidates, after the close of the labors of the Convention, were able and powerful. Hon. D. G. Fowle and Hon. J. M. Leach, were both presented by their friends for the position of Lieutenant Governor, but both withdrew their names, and were subsequently elected by acclamation as Electors for the State at large. Both made speeches at night, and it was admitted by their friends who had often heard them that they were the grandest efforts of their lives. Especially was the speech of Judge Fowle acknowledged to be the crowning effort of his life. As a campaign effort it was certainly the best speech we ever heard fall from the lips of man.

Governor Hayes-Pen and Ink Portrait.

It may safely be said of Governor Hayes that there have not been many Presidents, nor many Presidential candidates, who could fill more satisfactorily the critical eye in search of Presidential timber. He makes a good impression upon visitors of every class, taking quite easily the prevalent assumption that he is for the moment public property, yet not especially making any virtue of his freedom in this respect, indeed it is not perceptible that the fact of his nomination has even rippled the quiet service of his public life, or chauged in any respect the tenor of his way. Physically the Governor is decidedly better than a fair average. He stands about five feet ten, is broad shouldered and deep chested, and probably, weighs 190 pounds. His ample chest and shoulders are only observed by the eye that especially addresses itself to the points of art perhaps due to the grace and general symmetry of the form, for where all is harmony in this reor awkwardly built giants look like giants, but giants who are handsomely formed look like men of ordinary stature. There are, however, no gigantic proportions in Governor Hayes. He is a large man whose size is disguised somewhat by symmetry and harmony of form. But the Governor's great point is his head, which will be recognized generally as a fine one when the photographs that are now appearing in the windows shall become common. The best likeness I have seen yet is a cabinet sized profile made by Ellot and Armstead; it pictures very happily the Governor's easy yet sincere air. The head is ample us to size; the forehead full, bread and round; the nose straight and large; the eye a clear blue gray; the mouth, chin and cheeks covered by somewhat intractable and grizzled mustache and short beard. The hair is of the same wiry character as the teard—a light brown shading into gray. The Governor's manner is that of a cultivated gertleman. He expresses himself readily and accurately on all subjects broached in conversation, and though for evident reasons he objects to the operation of interviewing, this is not—as it has been with many public men-because he has not opinions to express to which the country would listen with interest.

His Own Report.

[Central Protestant]
The first article in the Christian at Work for June 15th, is from the pen of the editor, Rev. Dr. Talmage, and is devoted to a pleasant account of his recent visit to Trinity College, North Carolina. Dr. Craven he characterizes as "genial and able," the air as "delici-ously cool," the fields as "golden with ripe harvests," "the morning sweet with a summery mixture of red-clover top cactus," and the brass band on the Campus playing "Away down South in Dixie." The business of Commencement he denominates the "launching of a group of young men from the dry-dock of collegiate life on the wide waters of professional activity."

He says: "We never heard so many magnetic speeches on one Commencement platform as on this. The stereotyped manner and inevitable gesture of the ordinary collegian were swallowed in the fact that the graduates had something to say . . . .

"Notwithstanding what some of the politicians say, we believe the feeling of cordiality on the part of the South toward the North is almost universal. There are more bitter and blood-thirsty men at the North who need reconstruction than at the South. Before the next Presidential campaign is done this fact will be demonstrated. In Congress and in some of our Northern ecclesiastical courts there are men determined to drag forth their war speeches of 1862. For Christ's sake, let us have peace!"

The Old South Church, Boston, one of the landmarks of the Revolultion, escaped the fire of 1872 to fall under the hammer of the auctioneer. It having been proposed to destroy the building, to make room for business houses, a meeting was held to secure funds to purchase it and save it from destruction. A brass brand encouraged the enthusiasm. Speeches were made by Wendell Phillips, Rev. W. H. H. Murray, E. S. Tobey and others. The sum of $116,-000 has already beeen subscribed, and a committee with Gov. Rice at able the amount may be raised in ing the reign of gospel principles to [Wilmington Journal.] There are few persons who do not form in their own minds an idea of the personal appearance of any man who stands prominently forward amongst his fellow-men. We remember the idea we had of the great statesman Henry Clay. How we thought he was a slender "light-weight?" figure, dressed in the top of the style, with well fitting garments, smooth gloves, erect figure, Roman nose and sparkling blue eyes, with bushy hair bristling up all over his head. But when we saw him mithele large six when we saw him, with his large six feet two inches frame, sloping shoulders, flaxen thin hair, long arms, plain clothes, soft hat, gental smile and wide mouth, we could not realize that he would not realize that he was the man of our youthful enthusiasm—the great American or ator. In fact, of all the great men we ever saw, John C. Calhoun, of South Carolina, is the only one who ever came up to the full realization of of imaginings.

So of Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, the great preacher and Doctor of Divinity of New York. We had expected a grave, stern-looking, reserved, rather repelling man, who looked down on common mortals from a stand-point almost among the angels, and near whom common hamiltonia. and near whom common humanity approached with awe and with head bent down in deep humility and reverence. We are disappointed again, and so after reading his remarks about his late visit to Trinity College Commencement, we feel a desire to introduce him to North Carolina as whole thousands saw him and heard him at Trinity. But those who were not there may like to know how he

Dr. Talmage is in height about 5 feet 10 inches, straight up to the nape of his neck, where he shows the bend peculiar to the student and writerthat slight droop forward which long habit at the desk forms. He weighs somewhere about one hundred and thirty-five pounds. His arms and legs are long; his head is high, not very wide, and it is partly covered with coarse sandy hair which he carefully trains over the dome to cover certain spot where there is an evident ten-dency to "grow through." His nose is long and slightly "retrousse." Standing in front of him and taking a view you are struck with the great prominence which the bump of comparison has. It must be the predominent bump in his head. His eye brows are pale-sandy and very bushy his eye is blue-grey and when he draws down his eyebrows nearly hiding the eye, as he frequently does in speaking, you can see the sparkle of the eye, the diamond glitter, but it appears so deep that you could not reach it with your finger if you were to thrust it into the aperture. When in conversation, his eyes come open and then you see what large pupils he has and you can almost feel their length. But the speaking feature of his face is his mouth. It is simply tremendous. When he lays it open, as he frequently does, you look at it, or into it, in astonishment. It does not literally reach from ear to ear, but it might be classed in that class, if mouths are classed at all. Of his voice no idea can be given on paper. When he begins it will strike you as being very harsh, grating on the nerves; as he advances, warms up, or you become more accustomed to it, there is a softening in the tone, and when he comes to the pathetic part of his discourse it softens down and is sweeter and clearer. His manner cannot be described, but a familiar gesture of his seems to be with both hands raised, elbows at right angles, and hands pointing upward. He finished his sermon at Trinity and backed down from the desk with h s hands in this position and the word "Judgment" trembling on his lips. Shortly after, we heard two farmers comparing notes on the sermon. One asked, "What part did you like best?" The reply was, "I liked the way he ended best—he seemed to want to say more and yet he was done!" The effect of some passages of his sermon was very great, his il-lustrations very striking and the overruling power of comparison apparent through both sermon and lec-

As a companion Dr. Talmage is very pleasant and interesting. He seemed at Trinity like a schoolboy in vacation. He was up with the sun vacation. He was up with the sun and scampering over the hills and fields until breakfast when he came in and after a hasty meal made a rush for his pencil. In fact that pencil seemed to be intruding always. After every conversation the pencil; after every walk, meal and interview, the pencil. No doubt his notes on the North Carolinians are volumin-

Good-bye, Doctor. We like you for a whole-souled Northern man, who came to look at us with an unprejudiced eye, and we would like to see theusands like you if there were any more.

The Policy of the Radicals.

Says the New York Herald: "The aim of the Republicans will be to divert the canvass from reform to side issues. They will present two points—the shotgun and the Pope. They do not appear in the platform, but the whole temper of the Convention shows that the canvass, so far as the Republicans are concerned, will depend upon two issues. The first is to arouse the war feeling, on the ground that what the Southern people failed to win with the rifle they are striving to win with the shotgun. The second is an appeal to the suspicious, ever active and aggressive spirit of religious hatred, which the nomination of Concret Hayes as Governor invoked. General Hayes as Governor invoked in Ohio, and of which he is chief representative in the Republican

The English papers contain shocking details of human sacrifices in Dahomey and at Porto Nove, on the West Coast of Africa. Porto Novo is an independent town at the west end of a long lagoon that runs along the shore close to the sea, and at the east end of which is the English settlement at Lagos. On the accession of a new king, for nine days innocent and unsuspecting victims were slain in honor of former kings The whites residing in the territory were as powerless as the native to prevent the continuance of the horrid rites, which went on from day to day. The British government, which recently conquered the adjoining territory, is called upon to interfere and suppress Tobey and others. The sum of $116,000 has already been subscribed,

It may be mentioned as another specialty of this school, that after the studies of the term have been carefully reviewed, and its labors are over, and the last admonitions of the Chapel have been spoken, the pupils retire from its halls without "observation."

CT. MARY'S SCHOOL,

The Thirty-fifth year of this school will commence on the fourteenth day of September, and continue twenty weeks. The charge for Board and Tuition in English, is one hundred and five dollars per term.

The School has existed so long under the same direction, that its name ought sufficiently to characterize it. It may, however, not be amiss to state some of its specialues. Its buildings are ample, convenient, well ventilated, beautifully situated in the midst of an oak grove of twenty acres, within a mile of the centre of the city. They furnish dormitory accommodations to a hundred pupils, an ample study hall, numerous recitation and music rooms, and a parior of such size and elegance that it is really a feature of the school, furnishing to all the pupils, when not engaged in their lessons and studies, a delightful retreat, for the cultivation of manners and the social graces.

The literary instruction is designed to be thorough and to be carried as far as the continuance of the pupil at school will permit.

This instruction is imparted in a Chapel, separate from the other buildings, exclusively employed in the service of religion, in its effective appeal to the religious sentiabilities threatened.

Porticulars of Crook's Fight With the Indians.

NEW YORK, June 24 .- A dispatch dated from General Crook's camp at Goose Creek, June 19th, gives the following particulars of the fighting:

The Sioux numbered 2,500 under Sitting Bull; Crook's command 1,300 mounted soldiers, and two hundred and fifty Snakes and Crows, who marched as scouts, provided with government arms, and led by chiefs Louisante, Cosgrove, Old Crow, Medicine Crow and Good Heart. Capt. Henry was horribly wounded in the head. At one o'clock the firing had closed and the whole command followed in pursuit of Sioux, but after moving three miles forward the country appeared so dangerous that Gen. Crook determined to fall back to the point where the battle began; meanwhile the Crows were counselling on the bluff about the circumstances of the fight, and were pressing the belief that the soldiers had not promptly sustained their first advance against the Sioux, which was true, and had determined to return home.

The ammunition amounted to only one hundred rounds to the man. which was wasted, and Gen'l Crook concluded to return to camp and make another advance after giving rest to his troops; meanwhile hoping to conciliate the discontented Crows In this he did not succeed. They left last evening for their village, which they fear the Sioux bave visited during their absence. The Snakes still remain, but their steadfastness cannot be relied on.

Some minor incidents of the fight were most horrible. A small squad of cavalrymen, acting as rear-guard on the march, were ordered to hold a point on the left. The Sioux surrounded them and shot them in the face, only two escaping. Private Richard Bennett's body was disenbowelled by the savages and his hands and feet cut off.

The troops behaved gallantly in rescuing their dead and wounded. A corporal of 5th company, third eavalry, made a gallant charge to rescue a comrade from the scalping knife. The Sioux only obtained one scalp. The whites and friendly Indians captured thirteen of the Sioux who had dragged many of their dead from the field behind their ponies.

The Sioux were too much demoralized to trouble the column while withdrawing. A bivouse was made at night on the field after the battle. It is supposed the village of the Sioux was moved during the fight.

A supply train will be sent to Fetterman, and will return in about twenty days, after which the new scouts will take their place with five additional companies of infantry.

The wounded were transported to this camp and all are doing well.

The Boston Light Infantry off for Charleston.

NEW YORK, June 24.—The Boston Light Infantry arrived here this morning and were escorted to the armory of the old guard by a delegation of the latter. Both companies by steamer leave this afternoon for Charleston, to be present at the celebration there.

The Eastern Question at Rest. London, June 24.-The Russian telegraphic agency announce that conformibly with the desire of England and their own firm resolution, the other powers have instructed their naval commanders to respect the articles of the treaties relative to the passage of the Dardenelles.

Congress.

WASHINGTON, June 24. - The House elected Tailor of Ohio speaker pro tem. and then adjourned. The Senate during morning hours passed several bills of no public importance.

Michigan and Virginia for Tilden. Sr. Louis, June 24.—Twelve Michigan delegates have declared for Tilden. A dispatch has been received from the Virginia delegation stating that they were a unit for Tilden. Insurgents Resorting to Plunder. REGUSSA, June, 24.—It is reported at the insurgents plundered the plain of Nevesuje. The plunder is immense, including 8000 animals taken to Boujoni. The insurgents abolutely reject any armistice.

The Outlook at St. Louis.

St. Louis, June 24.—The Illinois delegation is placed, Tilden 23, Davis 10. Hendricks 9. Individual delegates from the Southern States talk pretty freely, but are careful not to commit their delegations to any particular opinion or line of action; one of them, very prominent in Alabama is for Tilden, and he believes that most of the representative men of the South prefer that gentlemen, though his observations since leaving home have tendered to modify some of his views on the general situation, and he thinks it likely that such will be the case with many delegates from that section. Gen. Hancock, he says, has gained largely in the South lately, and next to Tilden, he is the choice of the Democrats. Although the South has the majority of the Democratic votes necessary to elect a President, yet they do not propose to dictate in the least. They want a candidate who will carry the election, one who will lead them to victory and place the Government in the hands of the Democracy.

Gov. Hendricks, this Alabama gen tleman says, has little strength in the South, still if it is thought he is the strongest man in the North and can carry New York and such other States as will insure success, the South will gladly accept him and give him its full vote.

If the South has any demand to make, it is that the nominee of the Convention shall be a man against whose loyalty to the Federal Government during the late war, not even a shade of suspicion can attach. The nomination of Hayes by the republicans, has unsettled the opinion in the South somewhat. With Blaine, Morton or Conkling on the republican ticket, Tilden was by all odds the man for the Democratic nominee, but the negative qualities of Hayes. and the strength resulting therefrom, have modified the views in the South to some extent, and although there is no doubt that Tilden is the choice of the South, it may be thought that some other man will be stronger and more successful before the people. Other Southern delegates express opinion similar to the above.

The Servian Insurrection. London, June 24.-London Times special correspondent at Berlin telegraphs the following: The government here contemplates immediate issue of a four per cent. loan for $25,-,000,000

The Servian Minister of war has informed the Prince of Milan that the entire second van of the militia have been nobilized and sent to the frontier. This adds 42,000 men to the 70,000 already under arms, and completes Servia's armament.

The German exchanges have almost suspended business pending a decision as to what is the meaning of the Servian armament.

Receivers Appointed,

NEW YORK, June 24.-Henry N. Page, William Turnbull and Auguste Richards has been appointed receiver for Cockran, McLean & Co., with a $150,000 bond.

pendent Light Infantry.
